Calabro low moisture Mozzarella is made using a natural fermentation process, which produces a consistent melt and flavorful, buttery flavor. It has a denser texture and a tangier, saltier flavor than mild, milky fresh mozzarella. It's most popular use is on top of pizza but it can be sliced or grated and added to lasagna, sandwiches, quiche, dips, and so much more. It is also great for cheese platters and snacking.

3 Year Vintage Cheddar

Characteristics of moisture, acidity, salt levels, curd quality, texture, color, and flavor are all carefully assessed at regular intervals throughout the aging process. Certain subtle flavor attributes detected at grading are known to take the cheddar down different flavor paths. Some paths would not be favorable to extra aging, and the cheddar is then enjoyed as a young cheese (12-18 months). But some flavor attributes will yield unique and full flavor with additional aging under highly controlled conditions.

Many people enjoy the robust flavors that come from the line of Old Quebec cheddars, but few realize the time and attention it takes to bring this flavor experience to their table. The process starts at a rural cheese plant in the province of Québec, Canada. Cows grazed in the Saint Lawrence River Valley provide some of the highest grade milk for production, the first essential ingredient in cheese. Then a carefully guarded, proprietary starter culture and cheese making process yields what could be an exceptional cheddar.

7 Year Reserve Cheddar

During grading, a small number of cheddar blocks are identified as exceptional candidates for a unique levelof aging... pushing the cheddar out to 7 years aged and more. This "Reserve cheddar" is available in very limited quantities. A small taste will bring big, complex flavors to enjoy. Pair with your favorite complementary beverage or enjoy by itself.

One of the most common types of aji chile peppers in Peru, aji panca has a thick flesh that matures from a green to dark red in color. Distinct from the other ajis in its spiciness, aji panca is mild in heat intensity and provides a fruity, berry-like flavor that goes well in stews, sauces and fish dishes.

Belletoile® is a triple crème, soft ripened cheese made in the Lorraine region of France. Belletoile® was the very first triple crème ever to be exported to the U.S. It was eagerly sought after for its richness and buttery texture, and especially for its fresh and delightful flavor. Belletoile® offers a surprisingly good shelf life for a perishable triple crème, and the white snowy rind will last and protect a buttery paste, sure to capture and please any palate. Certified VLOG non-GMO.
